My father died a slow, painful death due to mesothelioma, a cancer caused by asbestos; there are thousands like him across this country.

My family suffered alongside him, helpless, devastated, and mad as hell; there are tens of thousands of us across this country.

The government is responsible for this national tragedy. They supported and subsidized the asbestos industry for decades, even though asbestos was documented as a carcinogen as far back as the 1950's. With extensive use of asbestos in building products for decades, they have ensured that asbestos will be a national tragedy well into the future. It's time for the government to be part of the solution; the first step is a national ban.

My father Ronald Clarence Garland was given the devastating diagnosis of mesothelioma in May of 2011. He was a healthy active husband, father, grandfather and great grandfather who was loved by his family and friends. He did everything he could to beat this horrible preventable disease that was caused by years of exposure to asbestos while working as an electrician for Nova Scotia Power. He recorded a CD in September and died December 18th. Our family will never be the same. Ban Asbestos, Canada so other families will never have to watch their loved one go through the horrible pain of watching someone precious suffer and die.

because my wonderful brother in law Ron Garland died of mesothelioma caused from asbestos .

My friends list their grandfather

I'm signing because I am an oncologist who treats mesothelioma. This ban is long overdue for a progressive Country like Canada

I have signed because Canada needs to stop damaging the health of people worldwide.

Asbestos took my father's life at the age of 65. It's disgusting that we have not banned it.

Laurie Kazan-Allen Stanmore ENG HA74SR United Kingdom ##### For more than a hundred years Canada produced, used and exported asbestos. As a result people in countries all over the world have died from exposures to Canadian asbestos. In Canada, the hazard posed to human beings of asbestos exposure was continually denied by asbestos vested interests whose pockets overflowed with the blood money they earned from the commercial exploitation of the deadly dust. It is time for Canada to ban ALL use and to support all those whose lives have been damaged!

Dawn Marsden	Mission	V2V 7P8	Canada	#####	I became aware of asbestos in the 80s during health inspector training, then discovery of asbestos in schools and care homes (used heavily in the 70s and 80s), when "capping" any exposed asbestos was considered safer than removal because of the fibres being released into the air. Full biohazard quarantine protocols should be required to remove it. I am shocked that there isn't a ban on use of asbestos already. Asbestos is associated with lung cancer and other breathing problems and should - like other things toxic to humans, food species and waters we rely on - be banned from use. It's only logical.

The association of exposure to asbestos and Mesothelioma is well established. 70-75% of the diagnosed patients had the exposure to asbestos. With the construction and housing business, workers are exposed to asbestos when removing the old structure during remodeling and destruction of the buildings.

I worked very closely with Lung Cancer patients and families, including the asbestos exposure related Mesothelioma, which has a poor prognosis when it is diagnosed. The median survival rate is 10-12 months and the 2-year survival rate is only 15-20%. If we were to reference it with breast cancer. The 5-year survival rate for breast cancer in BC is 92%.

We have yet to find the effective drugs and treatments to treat Mesothelioma because of its location and the large areas involved in this disease. Mesothelioma is found on the membrane that wraps around each lung, as it grows, it becomes thicker, it encases the entire lung squeezing the structure inward, making expansion of the lung during inhalation difficult if not impossible, i.e. difficult to take a breath.

Again, I strongly support and request the banning of asbestos in Canada, thanks very much.
